1. Adopt resolution in support of conserving federal funding for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP); and
2. Direct the Clerk of the Board to send copies of this resolution to the President of the United States and our federal legislative representatives.

Executive Summary

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program is a federally funded program administered at the State level that provides critical energy cost assistance to low-income households, especially seniors, people with disabilities, and families with young children. This resolution affirms the County of Santa Cruz's support for maintaining LIHEAP funding and urges federal representatives to protect this essential safety net.

Discussion

The Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP), established in 1981 and administered by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, provides critical support to low-income households struggling with energy costs. In California, LIHEAP is administered by the Department of Community Services and Development (CSD) through contracts with 40 community-based agencies across the state, including Central Coast Energy Services, which serves residents in the County of Santa Cruz.

LIHEAP funding supports a range of essential services, including:

- Assistance with home heating and cooling bills;
- Emergency support to prevent utility shutoffs; and
- Weatherization and energy-efficiency improvements to reduce long-term energy costs.

This program is especially vital in rural, agricultural, and coastal communities like Santa Cruz County, where aging housing stock and fluctuating temperatures can significantly increase utility burdens.

In 2024, approximately 19% of households in Santa Cruz County received LIHEAP services delivered by Central Coast Energy Services. This included bill payment assistance, emergency energy support, and home weatherization.

Key local impacts included:

- 1,121 total households assisted;
- 917 seniors served;
- 280 children under the age of five supported; and
- 819 individuals with disabilities receiving aid.

The continued availability of LIHEAP funding is essential to preventing utility shutoffs, reducing the risk of heat-related illnesses, and advancing energy equity and climate resilience for the county's most vulnerable populations.
