Executive Summary

The development of a juvenile camp program in Santa Cruz County is a strategic initiative aimed at improving the outcomes for justice-involved youth while maximizing local resources and maintaining community ties. The Probation Department is returning to present information on community outreach efforts and community feedback as directed by the Board.

Discussion

Juvenile Justice Realignment

California Senate Bill (SB) 823 was signed into law on September 30, 2020, effectively eliminating Division of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) custodial facilities and transferring the responsibility of care, custody, and supervision from the State to local jurisdictions. In Santa Cruz County, the Probation Department opened a local Secure Youth Treatment Facility (SYTF) in December 2024, and there is currently one youth committed to the program.

Evidence gathered in support of Juvenile Justice Realignment demonstrated that justice system-involved youth are more successful when they remain connected to their families and communities. Justice system-involved youth who remain in their communities have lower recidivism rates and are more prepared for their transition back into the community.

Without a juvenile camp program in Santa Cruz County, it has been necessary for Probation to contract with multiple counties to accept our youth when a juvenile camp placement is ordered by the Courts and for youth to step down or transition from a SYTF. Camp programs vary by location and may be operating within a juvenile hall or a separate facility and range from restrictive to non-restrictive environments. Current placement contracts have rates between $140-$522 per day/per youth. All determinations are made based on proximity, program offerings, availability, and acceptance of youth. The number of youth placed in a juvenile camp by the Courts varies by year. Over the past five years, there have been 18 camp placements with an average length of stay between 6-9 months, and 16 of 18 have been sent 183 miles away.

Local Juvenile Camp Program

To optimize local rehabilitation efforts, reduce reliance on external placements, and decrease General Fund appropriations, on October 8, 2024, the Probation Department asked the Board to approve utilizing the Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall facility to provide programming and space for youth adjudicated to a juvenile camp as a Less Restrictive Program (LRP) or step-down program. At that time, the Board directed Probation to conduct outreach to gather community feedback and return to the Board for further discussion.

On October 31, 2024, the Probation Department convened a town hall meeting for community members and organizations to discuss establishing a juvenile camp program at the Juvenile Hall facility. Also on October 31, 2024, the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council SB 823 Subcommittee was informed of the department's desire to develop a Camp program. Plans for a Camp program was also shared during the department's November 8, 2025, Youth Justice Convening which was attended by numerous County and community partners. An additional meeting with justice-involved youth and their families was scheduled for February 3, 2025. It was necessary to cancel the meeting due to community participation in advocacy events. In lieu of meeting in person, youth and families completed electronic surveys to inform our Camp and SYTF programming. The meeting with youth and families will be rescheduled and held before the end of this fiscal year.

Additionally, the Probation Chief has reviewed this request and the framework as well as purpose for creating a camp program locally with the Chair of the Juvenile Justice Delinquency Prevention Commission (JJDPC) and the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council SB 823 Subcommittee members. Probation will also be providing additional information to the JJDPC at the next regularly scheduled meeting on February 13, 2025.

Probation has returned to the Board today to present feedback from the community town hall, information sharing sessions, and surveys.

Juvenile Hall Operations

The Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall facility operates two independent units with the capacity to provide individual rooms with restroom facilities for up to 40 youth. All rooms meet Title 15 juvenile detention facility standards including use for Camp, LRP, and step-down programs.

Probation is proposing designating five beds for the purpose of juvenile camp commitments. Housing of youth is based on classification, risk level, individual needs, and safety of all youth within the facility. The classification system is an ongoing process throughout a commitment.

The juvenile camp program will also serve as a step-down for re-entry for young people who need that level of transition services and supervision from SYTF.

Youth in juvenile camp programming will participate in programs with other youth in the unit, promoting social development and peer learning. Probation is already working with community partners, such as the County Office of Education and Cabrillo College to develop educational, vocational, and life skills programming unique to the needs of youth receiving a lengthy commitment to be served within the Juvenile Hall.

Benefits of a Local Juvenile Camp

There are significant benefits to providing a juvenile camp program in Santa Cruz County, including:

- Family Proximity: Keeping youth closer to home will facilitate equitable access to family visits and support, fostering better rehabilitation and reentry outcomes.
- Continuity of Care: Youth ordered to Camp, as well as youth transitioning from SYTF when needed, may be served without having to physically change locations and programming and without upsetting daily activities or interrupting or changing programs and curriculum. This would also provide continuity of treatment by allowing youth to remain with their mental health provider(s) and natural supports.
- Financial Efficiency: Maximizing utilization of Juvenile Hall staff, facility, and programs will reduce the need for external placements and free up local resources for other essential County services.

The establishment of a juvenile camp program within Santa Cruz County is designed to enhance local rehabilitation efforts, reduce reliance on out-of-county placements, and optimize the use of county resources by significantly reducing the burden on the County General Fund.

While $469,000 in County General Funds are currently encumbered for various out-of-county Camp placements to ensure availability when court-ordered, the cost for providing these services at Santa Cruz Juvenile Hall would be substantially less. Probation also anticipates a reduction in Juvenile Hall medical and mental health treatment costs with the California Advancing and Innovating Medi-Cal (CalAIM) initiative, allowing the Health Services Agency to direct bill Medi-Cal for some services.

Financial Impact

Establishing a juvenile camp program within Santa Cruz County is estimated to result in annual cost savings of approximately $300,000 in County General Funds by reducing the need for contracting costs related to out-of-county placements (GL Key 577000, Object 74032). Due to the program's late implementation in FY 2024-25, cost savings for the initial year are estimated at approximately $100,000. The County Administrative Office will realign Juvenile Hall appropriations as appropriate at mid-year.

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Erin Wood and I'm a resident of Santa Cruz, a graduate of UCSC, and a licensed acupuncturist working with Medi-Cal patients in the county.

I'm writing to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department. From my understanding, the probation proposal appears to rename a few cells in the Juvenile Hall to "Coastal Redwood Academy". This is deeply misleading, it is still juvenile detention. I am concerned that the "ranch camp" will lead to worse outcomes for youth in our county. Sending youth across the hall to a new cell where maybe the door opens more often is neither a real "step-down" in detention, nor is it appropriate for youth who have committed less serious offenses.

I believe that we should redirect any efforts and money to more fruitful support services and housing. What if we converted the whole facility to a non-locked community center that offers trauma-informed behavioral health for folks of all ages, perhaps housing for elders or veterans, a vocational resource center, a food pantry and dining room for communal meals, a garden, and whatever else the community wanted? We wouldn't have to invest in the surveillance and detention of our youth, friends, and neighbors. There is an open space, playing field, with volleyball court and basketball courts and wouldn't it be fabulous for more folks to be able to enjoy this place in the mountains? Stopping this vicious cycle of surveillance and incarceration could mean as a society, we could start investing in programs that actually heal our neighbors and youth and keep the entire community safe.

I also want to see the probation department engage more deeply with the community in creating any "step down" program for youth. I understand that we have the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and a related 823 subcommittee; both of these community oversight committees should be engaged more deeply in the process for developing a plan for our system-impacted youth. Eventually, we could transition to spending too much money on this outdated facility and leading to ways that lead to more productive and supportive futures for youth.

Thank you for considering my input,
Erin Wood

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Julia Gratton. I grew up here in Santa Cruz County and came back to be close to my family and to make my life here after graduating college. I am writing to urge you to vote no on establishing Redwoods Coastal Academy at Juvenile Hall.

There is no good reason for establishing a Ranch Camp in Santa Cruz County. Youth are better served at home and through community based programs, and research shows that being incarcerated for even small amounts of time and even in low-security settings is bad for kids and leads to higher rates of recidivism. I am concerned that designating part of Juvenile Hall as a Ranch Camp would lead to more youth being incarcerated in Santa Cruz County and for longer terms. And I simply don't see any good reason for a Ranch Camp, since any youth eligible to be stepped down to a Ranch Camp would also be eligible to be stepped down to an individual plan for a Less Restrictive Program than would allow them to be at home and in their community.

Santa Cruz County prides itself on having made major reductions in its juvenile hall population, becoming a model for other California counties. It's time to live up to that legacy by saying no to Redwoods Coastal Academy and investing instead in the local organizations working with youth in our communities.

Thank you for all your work, and please vote no on Redwoods Coastal Academy.

Sincerely,
Julia Gratton

Dear Justin and Board of Supervisors,

Thank you for taking the time to consider the most caring and effective options for local youth rehabilitation and reentry programs. I'm writing to you today to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department.

I currently live and operate a home preschool in District 3. As a parent, teacher and sibling to two brothers who as teens were placed in juvenile detention/rehabilitation programs that resulted in continuing trauma, incarceration and problems for decades, I am asking that you focus on the Secure Youth Treatment Facility (SYTF) implementation to promote a more cost- and outcome-effective "least restrictive program" (LRP) model. Instead of continuing to use a carceral model – the proposed Redwood Coastal Academy "ranch camp" is not actually a camp but instead reclassifying certain cells at the current juvenile hall – I urge you to look at this as an opportunity where youth in our community can receive appropriate support as they transition back to their families, school and society and set them up for long-term success.

In addition, I would like to see the probation department engage more deeply with the community in creating any "step down" program for youth. I understand that we have the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and a related 823 subcommittee; both of these community oversight committees should be engaged more deeply in the process for developing a plan for our system-impacted youth.

Dear Supervisors:

My name is Debra Schneider and I'm a resident of Santa Cruz in Supervisorial District 3. I am a retired educator who worked with middle and high school students for 30 years.

I'm writing to you today to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department. As I understand it, the proposed "ranch camp" for juveniles merely renames a few cells in the Juvenile Hall to "Coastal Redwood Academy." This is misleading; it is still juvenile detention.

From my decades of work experience with youth, I know that young people are better served by a less restrictive program that keeps them at home or in a home-like setting and engages them in community activities and organizations.

Research reported by the National Bureau of Economic Research shows that "juvenile incarceration results in large decreases in the likelihood of high school completion and large increases in the likelihood of adult incarceration." California Senate Bill 823 directs that young people should be in the "least restrictive appropriate environment" with the goal being "to reduce and then eliminate racial and economic disparities, and reduce the use of confinement in the juvenile justice system by utilizing community-based responses and interventions." I encourage Santa Cruz County Supervisors to contribute to that effort.

In addition, I want to see the probation department engage more deeply with the community in creating any "step down" program for youth. I understand that we have the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and a related 823 subcommittee; both of these community oversight committees should be engaged more deeply in the process for developing a plan for our system-impacted youth that makes a real, substantive difference in circumstances and programming to support our youth.

Thank you for considering my input,
Debra Schneider

Dear Supervisors:

My name is Tamar Ragir and I'm a resident of Santa Cruz. I am also a high school teacher at an alternative high school called Delta. I'm writing to you today to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department.

From my understanding, the probation proposal appears to rename a few cells in the Juvenile Hall to "Coastal Redwood Academy". This is misleading; it is still juvenile detention. I am concerned that the "ranch camp" will lead to worse outcomes for youth in our county. Sending youth across the hall from SYTF to a new cell where maybe the door opens more often is neither a real "step-down" in detention, nor is it appropriate for youth who have committed less serious offenses. I have several students who were incarcerated at the juvenile hall in Felton. The experience of being incarcerated has been difficult to recover from. It makes a big difference if we can keep them at home or in a home like-setting.

This research referenced in a recent New York Times article indicates that even a short stay in detention decreases graduation rates and increases recidivism as adults. Young people will be better served by a less restrictive program that engages them in community activities and organizations while living at home if possible.

As you probably know, CA Senate Bill 823 - Dept. of Juvenile Justice Realignment calls for the "least restrictive appropriate environment" with the goal being to "reduce and then eliminate racial and economic disparities, and reduce the use of confinement in the juvenile justice system by utilizing community-based responses and interventions." I'd love to see us, as a county, develop a more creative, less restrictive solution that better meets the requirements of the law and will better serve our young people.

In addition, I want to see the probation department engage more deeply with the community in creating any "step down" program for youth. I heard that the probation department requested input from system impacted families, but none of the impacted students I know or their families were contacted. I understand that we have the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and a related 823 subcommittee. There are also many other community organizations focused on supporting youth like Barrios Unidos. All of these committees and organizations and impacted youth and their families should be engaged more deeply in the process for developing a plan.

Thank you for considering my input,
Tamar Ragir

Dear Chairperson Hernandez and Board Members, Cummings, Martinez, De Serpa and Koenig:

I write to you as a Santa Cruz County resident in opposition to the proposal to create the euphemistically named "Redwoods Coastal Academy" in Juvenile Hall. The good idea in this proposal is to avoid sending youth from our county away to other counties to be incarcerated. The bad idea is to incarcerate these youth in the first place. You can call it an "Academy", but it is still Juvenile Hall. Much better to spend the financial and staff resources on alternate programming for youth who get arrested (mentoring programs, mental health and substance use treatment programs, academic and vocational education programs etc.).

I must confess I was surprised by the contents of the agenda packet itself for this item. While the agenda describes item #8 a "report on community outreach on establishing a juvenile camp program at Juvenile Hall", I don't see much information on what was learned from talking to members of the community. I do know that there are significant voices in our community who are opposed to this approach and I urge you to listen to MILPA, SURJ, and other organizations. There is solid, evidence based research that shows how even brief periods of incarceration for youth have enormous negative effects going forward, increasing the likelihood of re-incarceration in the future, decreasing the likelihood of high school completion, etc.)

Please do not move forward with this proposal but focus on other options that don't involve looking these youth up in Juvenile Hall, by whatever name you call it.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Clare Bathum and I'm a resident of Brookdale.

I'm writing to you today to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department.

From my understanding, the probation proposal appears to rename a few cells in the Juvenile Hall to "Coastal Redwood Academy". This is misleading; it is still juvenile detention. I am concerned that the "ranch camp" will lead to worse outcomes for youth in our county. Sending youth across the hall to a new cell where maybe the door opens more often is neither a real "step-down" in detention, nor is it appropriate for youth who have committed less serious offenses.

Research <<https://www.nber.org/papers/w19102>> indicates that even a short stay in detention decreases graduation rates and increases recidivism as adults. Young people will be better served by a less restrictive program that keeps them at home or in a home-like setting and engages them in community activities and organizations.

In fact, CA Senate Bill 823 - Dept. of Juvenile Justice Realignment calls for the "least restrictive appropriate environment" with the goal being to "reduce and then eliminate racial and economic disparities, and reduce the use of confinement in the juvenile justice system by utilizing community-based responses and interventions."

In addition, I want to see the probation department engage more deeply with the community in creating any "step down" program for youth. I understand that we have the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and a related 823 subcommittee; both of these community oversight committees should be engaged more deeply in the process for developing a plan for our system-impacted youth.

Thank you for considering my input,

Supervisor Cummings,

I'm a resident of Santa Cruz, an auntie of two young kids at Bayview, and a graduate of Santa Cruz high school in the 90s. I've worked managing youth programs in the past.

I'm writing to you today to ask you to stop any consideration of the "ranch camp" proposed by the county probation department. I believe we can do better for the youth and for our community, and that doing so is imperative.

Dear Supervisors,

My name is Leslie Potenzo and I live in Soquel. I have lived in Santa Cruz County for 35 years and I am a small business owner. I have long been working with numerous local organizations on the issues of Social and Racial Justice and Criminal Justice oversight.

I am writing to urge you to vote NO on the Probation Department proposal to designate the Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall as a CAMP facility. (Agenda Item 8)

Your decision with this vote presents a significant opportunity for Santa Cruz County and the Probation Department to be leaders in the Juvenile Justice System by committing to further implement the goals and directions of SB 823 - Dept. of Juvenile Justice Realignment which calls for the “least restrictive appropriate environment” with the goal being to “reduce and then eliminate racial and economic disparities, and reduce the use of confinement in the juvenile justice system by utilizing community-based responses and interventions.”

An intent of SB823 is to use state funding previously used for confinement and incarceration to instead promote a more cost effective Least Restrictive Program (LRP) where youth can receive appropriate support in a non-carceral setting such as at-home rehabilitative programs with wrap around services, as they transition back to their families, school and society.

Community based less restrictive programs (LRPs) can take various forms: Among others, Individual At home Rehabilitation Plans or Community Residential Programs, both with community based organizations’ wrap around programs/services.

Additionally, I believe we are underutilizing the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC) and the SB 823 Subcommittee. Both of these community oversight committees should be engaged more deeply in the process of developing a Less Restrictive Program (LRP) plan for our youth. Additionally, I urge you to expand the membership of these committees to include additional community members and individuals with lived experience in the justice system. This is a step in furthering equity, one of the Board’s core values. These committees can also play a role in the development of a comprehensive plan for the more vulnerable youth of Santa Cruz County. Let’s put our collective care and wisdom towards real support and prevention strategies.

Let's stop doing "business as usual." You, the Board of Supervisors of Santa Cruz County have an opportunity to create and reimagine youth justice for the future. By centering care, accountability, and equity, you can create a system that genuinely supports the growth and potential of every young person.

Thank you for your consideration,

Leslie Potenzo

Dear Supervisors,

I am writing to you as a parent, a teacher, and an engaged community member. My own children are young adults, one at Cabrillo and the other at UCSC. I teach English as a Second Language to young adults in Watsonville and facilitate court-mandated positive discipline classes for parents involved with the Probation Department. As part of the local chapter of SURJ (Showing Up for Racial Justice), I study and take action with others to build together the world we need and deserve.

What happens to young people in Santa Cruz County matters to and impacts all of us.

I am writing to urge you to reject the proposal to rename a few cells in the Juvenile Hall "Coastal Redwood Academy" and to instead insist on "least restrictive programs" including release to home with wrap-around support programs through a broad community collaborative. Our youth need support and practice being in community, not the isolation and punishment that being housed at Juvenile Hall is.

Even a short stay in youth detention decreases graduation rates and increases recidivism later in life. Young people are better served by the least restrictive program, allowing them to be at home or in a home-like setting, engaged with and in community, exploring ways to find both belonging and purpose through local activities and organizations. In fact, it is a legislative mandate: CA Senate Bill 823 - Dept. of Juvenile Justice Realignment calls for transitioning youth to the "least restrictive appropriate environment" with the goal being to "reduce and then eliminate racial and economic disparities, and reduce the use of confinement in the juvenile justice system by utilizing community-based responses and interventions."

Vincent Schiraldi has extensive experience in juvenile justice research and policy, and if you haven't read his book Mass Supervision: Probation, Parole, and the Illusion of Safety and Freedom, I highly recommend you do. The book, alongside stories from people who have experienced probation - either through the juvenile justice system or as adults - has raised many questions about the real effectiveness of the Probation Department. Given current budget challenges, and the massive cost of housing someone at Juvenile Hall, it is more important than ever to ensure that any money going toward juvenile justice is used in ways that are truly effective, both in the short term and long term.

I want to suggest an audit of the Probation Department to answer questions such as:

- * What are the existing racial disparities in youth sentencing and supervision practices?*
- * How does the use of risk assessment tools influence conditions of their supervision?*
- * Are probation officers adequately trained to address the complex needs of youth under supervision?*
- * What data exists to demonstrate the effectiveness of probation in reducing recidivism rates?*
- * Are probation conditions tailored to the specific needs of each individual offender, or are they often overly restrictive?*
- * How can probation be better integrated with community-based support services to promote successful reintegration?*

I also suggest there be a comprehensive and transparent analysis of what community based resources for youth currently exist in the county, and possibilities for creative alternative programs for youth. Related to this point, I urge you to expand the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council and the SB823 Sub-Committee to include more community and system-impacted people, as these are important spaces where various groups can come together to build effective alternatives for youth.

In closing I want to say that I attended the October 31st (Halloween) community meeting called by the Probation Dept in response to the BOS push for more community engagement. It was exciting to see many different groups coming together with concern and an interest to collaborate to better serve our youth. That is something to build on, but the Probation Department's lack of transparency about current programs, plans and funding did nothing to build that important foundation.

Thank you for giving care and consideration to this important issue.

Sincerely,
Pamela Sexton

Dear Supervisor Cummings and all Board Members,

I am emailing you to urge you to vote NO on the Juvenile Hall Camp Ordinance to Designate the Santa Cruz County Juvenile Hall as a CAMP facility.

I have been a resident of Santa Cruz County for over 20 years and am a former public school teacher, and have been studying the impacts of youth and adult incarceration for years.

Not only does incarceration not lead to rehabilitation, nor keep our communities safer (see New York Times article from January 28, 2025 and some points from it below), the probation department has failed to include and engage the community in creating a less restrictive program (LRP) alternative but rather continued to move through this process with a business-as-usual attitude. The situation demands immediate and bold action to ensure our young people's safety, dignity, and future in Santa Cruz County. Because of this, we strongly encourage the Board of Supervisors to:

Vote No On CAMP Designation:
2.
Expand the Number of Community Seats on the JJCC and SB 823 Sub-Committee 3.
Conduct an Extensive Analysis of Local Youth Resources
4.
Conduct an Audit of the Probation Department

Everything I have learned over the years points to the reality that incarceration is not the answer when harm has been caused, and actually leads to more problems. Here are some points from the NYT article mentioned above:

Research showed that even brief juvenile incarceration increased high school dropout rates and adult incarceration.

- Judges often believed that short-term detention could "teach lessons," but data suggests it made youth more likely to reoffend.
- Juvenile prisons often have pleasant names like "youth center" or "camp", but they are still prisons. In this case, the "camp" environment is no different than the SYTF.

Also, I would like to talk about the lack of transparency and cooperation by the probation department.

- While the community, including the related Santa Cruz County juvenile justice commissions and committees, were aware of the planned SYTF, the "Ranch Camp" proposal was bundled in with no warning at the Board of Supervisors meeting on October 8, 2024.
- The subsequent attempts to involve the community have been either hastily, inconveniently and poorly executed (the Watsonville meeting on October 31, 2024), or not publicized at all.

We believe that Santa Cruz County has an opportunity to create and reimagine youth justice for the future. By centering care, accountability, and equity, you can create a system that genuinely supports the growth and potential of every young person.

Thank you for your attention to this urgent matter. I trust that you will make a decision that truly demonstrates your care for all of the youth who live in our county.

Sincerely,
Susan Kohen

Youth staements 2024 against PO's..docx

When I was on probation as a youth, my PO was very hard to get a hold of, never seemed to be in whenever I needed his support. However, whenever He wanted to reach me, he would threaten to put me in custody if I didn't come into the Probation office whenever he wanted to see me. He didn't care that I was at school or at work and could have lost my job or that I didn't have a way to get there. I was just supposed to drop everything and prayed he didn't arrest me. This PO still works there, and I am afraid of retaliation from him if he knew my name that's why I am not giving my name even though I have another PO today.

When I was on probation, the Gang Task Force invaded my house and went through everything, they scared my Mom and my little sister, but they didn't care. Even though they didn't find anything, I told them I didn't have anything, and I was doing everything I'm supposed to. I remember one Officer saying to me" I will be watching you and make sure you end up in prison with all your homies" I was 17 yrs old, going to school and had a job after school to help my family. Probation never looked at the fact that yes, I made a mistake, but I never hurt anyone and that I was really trying to stay out of trouble and working to help my family. I am older now and no longer on Probation but I have No Trust in the Probation department because I have experienced how they abuse their power and lie about saying they just want to help but in reality they are just waiting for you to make a small mistake to lock you back up. Probation is all about locking up young people, especially from Watsonville to make themselves look good and make money off us. Now that I am older, I can see their TRUE COLORS. Today, I am in college because of the REAL people who supported and believed in me from Barrios Unidos and Rising Scholars. To that Officer who hoped to put me in prison I want him to know that “Someday I will be a lawyer (will take the BAR exam soon) to protect the young people of my community against the injustice, so in a way I guess I should Thank that Officer, nah, I will see him in court someday”.

Respectfully,

Aka A.F.

I refuse to give my real name because I have worked hard to get where I am and will not lose all that I have accomplished but trust me everything I stated is true and I am sorry I could not be there in person, like I said I'm in Law School.
